INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 8

Author Index

Achilles, C. M., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools?, No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Bergman, Jerry, Bidding farewell to Common Sense—our language would be improved without this phrase, No. 3, p. 22

Bratlien, Maynard J., Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33

Brown, Keith, Research: Elementary principals in the Mid-South are increasing their PR programs, No. 4, p. 12

Childers, John H. Jr., Organizational health—how to measure a school's level of health and take remedial action, No. 2, p. 4

Ellison, Bonnie, Involve your total staff in public relations, No. 1, p. 4

Gies, Frederick John: Case study response to Vol. 8, No. 3, We all make mistakes . . . but this many, No. 4, p. 25

Gorton, Richard A., Research: School press relations are better than expected—but some improvement is still needed, No. 1, p. 31; Most middle school principals recognize a need to connect with those adults who do not have children in school, No. 3, p. 29

Green, David W., Do board members really know what's going on?—tips on handling information, No. 2, p. 25

Hansen, Greg, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—citizens develop recommendations regarding excellence, No. 3, p. 12

Holliday, Albert E., Home-high school collaboration—parent involvement is a plus factor. The question is "How?" No. 4, p. 4; Communication potpourri—news criteria, "business" cards for teachers, reaching non-parents, cable considerations, teacher morale, parent resources, academic boosters, and a communication team, No. 2, p. 8

Horne, Pamela Swan, Case study response to Vol. 7, No. 4., The missing leaf, No. 1, p. 11

Humphrey, Suzanne, Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, No. 3, p. 30

Jones, Alan H., Marketing public schools—a political challenge to properly allocate national monetary resources, No. 4, p. 30

Karpinski, Joseph, Recognizing the achievements of the staff—ideas to thank, praise and reward employees, No. 1, p. 22

Lamb, Richard D., Research: Community education ranks high as a method of judging PR effectiveness in school districts, No. 3, p. 28

Lester, Ruth, A Distinguished Hall of Fame provides contemporary role models, No. 1, p. 27

Liebertz, Skip, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—"See for Yourself" tours provide orientation and classroom visits, No. 3, p. 10

Lilley, H. Edward, Case study response to Vol. 8, No. 2, Peeling the problem, No. 3, p. 27

Lintz, M. N., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools? No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Malsam, Margaret, Involve your community in an Educational Fair, No. 3, p. 14

Mills, William (Bill), Looking for the right moment—a photographer discusses shooting techniques, No. 3, p. 18; Impromptu portraits—you don't need a professional studio to obtain quality personality photos, No. 4, p. 17

Moffett, Kenneth, The advantages of an extended winter break—closing schools in January and February has many benefits, No. 4, p. 26

Moyer, Carla, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—partnerships link businesses and schools, No. 3, p. 6

Nasstrom, Roy R., Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Nebgen, Mary K., Marketing and the management of public schools: borrowing from business, No. 2, p. 20

Newsom, Maxine, Research: School press relations are better than expected—but some improvement is still needed, No. 1, p. 31

Novatis, Barbara, Conducting a district marketing program with a cross section of employees, No. 4, p. 8

Oberg, Terry J., Response to case study in Vol. 8, No. 1, Dance with the one who brought you?, No. 2, p. 31

Ratliff, Kathèrine, A happy school climate can enhance our search for excellence in education, No. 4, p. 14

Schneider, William, The public schools: a consumer report—evidence that the "decline in confidence" does not represent consumer dissatisfaction, No. 1, p. 12

Vaupel, Carl F., Research: Elementary principals in the Mid-South are increasing their PR programs, No. 4, p. 12

Walden, Everett, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Walker, John E., Community schools—a powerful public relations vehicle, No. 2, p. 32

Waller, Steward, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Wayson, W. W., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools?, No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Weber, Jessica, C., Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, No. 3, p. 30

West, Joan, Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33

West, Philip T., Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33; Community education ranks high as a method of judging PR effectiveness in school districts, No. 3, p. 28. Case studies: What price change?—a professional principal under attack because of his human relations approach, No. 1, p. 8; The tolling of the belle—a teacher who became an assistant principal and changed from a model of sweetness and light to a rampaging reformer, No. 2, p. 28; The celluloid pretender—staged discipline going awry, No. 3, p. 25; The brothers Markoff—a family institution, favors owed, and a superintendent with a dilemma, No. 4, p. 21

Whitsell, Charles, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Subject Index

Administration

Advantages of an extended winter break—closing schools in January and February has many benefits, Kenneth M. Moffett, No. 4, p. 26

Organizational health—how to measure a school's level of health and take remedial action, John H. Childers, Jr., No. 2, p. 4

Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, Susanne Humphrey and Jessica C. Weber, No. 3, p. 30

Case Studies

Brothers Markoff—a family institution, favors

INDEX Author & Subject

Volume 8

Author Index

Achilles, C. M., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools?, No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Bergman, Jerry, Bidding farewell to Common Sense—our language would be improved without this phrase, No. 3, p. 22

Bratlien, Maynard J., Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33

Brown, Keith, Research: Elementary principals in the Mid-South are increasing their PR programs, No. 4, p. 12

Childers, John H. Jr., Organizational health—how to measure a school's level of health and take remedial action, No. 2, p. 4

Ellison, Bonnie, Involve your total staff in public relations, No. 1, p. 4

Gies, Frederick John: Case study response to Vol. 8, No. 3, We all make mistakes . . . but this many, No. 4, p. 25

Gorton, Richard A., Research: School press relations are better than expected—but some improvement is still needed, No. 1, p. 31; Most middle school principals recognize a need to connect with those adults who do not have children in school, No. 3, p. 29

Green, David W., Do board members really know what's going on?—tips on handling information, No. 2, p. 25

Hansen, Greg, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—citizens develop recommendations regarding excellence, No. 3, p. 12

Holliday, Albert E., Home-high school collaboration—parent involvement is a plus factor. The question is "How?" No. 4, p. 4; Communication potpourri—news criteria, "business" cards for teachers, reaching non-parents, cable considerations, teacher morale, parent resources, academic boosters, and a communication team, No. 2, p. 8

Horne, Pamela Swan, Case study response to Vol. 7, No. 4., The missing leaf, No. 1, p. 11

Humphrey, Suzanne, Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, No. 3, p. 30

Jones, Alan H., Marketing public schools—a political challenge to properly allocate national monetary resources, No. 4, p. 30

Karpinski, Joseph, Recognizing the achievements of the staff—ideas to thank, praise and reward employees, No. 1, p. 22

Lamb, Richard D., Research: Community education ranks high as a method of judging PR effectiveness in school districts, No. 3, p. 28

Lester, Ruth, A Distinguished Hall of Fame provides contemporary role models, No. 1, p. 27

Liebertz, Skip, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—"See for Yourself" tours provide orientation and classroom visits, No. 3, p. 10

Lilley, H. Edward, Case study response to Vol. 8, No. 2, Peeling the problem, No. 3, p. 27

Lintz, M. N., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools? No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Malsam, Margaret, Involve your community in an Educational Fair, No. 3, p. 14

Mills, William (Bill), Looking for the right moment—a photographer discusses shooting techniques, No. 3, p. 18; Impromptu portraits—you don't need a professional studio to obtain quality personality photos, No. 4, p. 17

Moffett, Kenneth, The advantages of an extended winter break—closing schools in January and February has many benefits, No. 4, p. 26

Moyer, Carla, Salem schools involve businesses and citizens—partnerships link businesses and schools, No. 3, p. 6

Nasstrom, Roy R., Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Nebgen, Mary K., Marketing and the management of public schools: borrowing from business, No. 2, p. 20

Newsom, Maxine, Research: School press relations are better than expected—but some improvement is still needed, No. 1, p. 31

Novatis, Barbara, Conducting a district marketing program with a cross section of employees, No. 4, p. 8

Oberg, Terry J., Response to case study in Vol. 8, No. 1, Dance with the one who brought you?, No. 2, p. 31

Ratliff, Kathèrine, A happy school climate can enhance our search for excellence in education, No. 4, p. 14

Schneider, William, The public schools: a consumer report—evidence that the "decline in confidence" does not represent consumer dissatisfaction, No. 1, p. 12

Vaupel, Carl F., Research: Elementary principals in the Mid-South are increasing their PR programs, No. 4, p. 12

Walden, Everett, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Walker, John E., Community schools—a powerful public relations vehicle, No. 2, p. 32

Waller, Steward, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Wayson, W. W., Research: Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools?, No. 1, p. 30; The attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, No. 2, p. 34

Weber, Jessica, C., Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, No. 3, p. 30

West, Joan, Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33

West, Philip T., Research: Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, No. 2, p. 33; Community education ranks high as a method of judging PR effectiveness in school districts, No. 3, p. 28. Case studies: What price change?—a professional principal under attack because of his human relations approach, No. 1, p. 8; The tolling of the belle—a teacher who became an assistant principal and changed from a model of sweetness and light to a rampaging reformer, No. 2, p. 28; The celluloid pretender—staged discipline going awry, No. 3, p. 25; The brothers Markoff—a family institution, favors owed, and a superintendent with a dilemma, No. 4, p. 21

Whitsell, Charles, Research: Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, No. 4, p. 12

Subject Index

Administration

Advantages of an extended winter break—closing schools in January and February has many benefits, Kenneth M. Moffett, No. 4, p. 26

Organizational health—how to measure a school's level of health and take remedial action, John H. Childers, Jr., No. 2, p. 4

Why finance elections fail—passive referendum campaigns are no longer effective, Susanne Humphrey and Jessica C. Weber, No. 3, p. 30

Case Studies

Brothers Markoff—a family institution, favors

owed, and a superintendent with a dilemma, Philip T. West, No. 4, p. 21
Celluloid pretender—staged discipline going awry, Philip T. West, No. 3, p. 25
Tolling of the belle—a teacher who became an assistant principal and changed from a model of sweetness and light to a rampaging reformer, Philip T. West, No. 2, p. 28
What price change?—a professional principal under attack because of his human relations approach, Philip T. West, No. 1, p. 8

Case Studies Responses

Dance with the one who brought you?, response to case study in Vol. 8, No. 1, Terry J. Oberg, No. 2, p. 31
Missing leaf, response to case study in Vol 7, No. 4, Pamela Swan Horne, No. 1, p. 11
Peeling the problem, response to case study in Vol. 8, No. 2, H. Edward Lilley, No. 3, p. 27
We all make mistakes . . . but this many?, response to case study in Vol. 8, No. 3, Frederick John Gies, No. 4, p. 25

Communication Processes

Bidding farewell to Common Sense—our language would be improved without this phrase, Jerry Bergman, No. 3, p. 22
Communication potpourri—news criteria, "business" cards for teachers, reaching non-parents, cable considerations, teacher morale, parent resources, academic boosters and a communication team, Albert E. Holliday, No. 2, p. 8
Impromptu portraits—you don't need a professional studio to obtain quality personality photos, William Mills, No. 4, p. 17
Looking for the right moment—a photographer discusses shooting techniques, William Mills, No. 3, p. 18

External Publics

Citizens develop recommendations re. excellence, Greg Hansen, No. 3, p. 12
Community schools—a powerful public relations vehicle, John E. Walker, No. 2, p. 32
Distinguished Alumni Hall of Fame provides contemporary role models, Ruth Lester, No. 1, p. 27
Home-high school collaboration—parent involvement is a plus factor. The question is "How?," Albert E. Holliday No. 4, p. 4
Involve your community in an Education Fair, Margaret Malsam, No. 3, p. 14
Marketing and the management of public schools: borrowing from business, Mary K. Nebgen, No. 2, p. 20
Marketing public schools—a political challenge to properly allocate national monetary resources, Alan H. Jones, No. 4, p. 30
Partnerships link businesses and schools, Carla Moyer, No. 3, p. 6
Public schools: a consumer report—evidence that the "decline of confidence" does not represent consumer dissatisfaction, William Schneider, No. 1, p. 12
Salem schools involve businesses and citizens, Carla Moyer, Greg Hansen and Skip Liebertz, No. 3, p. 4
"See for Yourself" tours provide orientation and classroom visits, Skip Liebertz, No. 3, p. 10

Internal Publics

Do board members really know what's going on?—tips on handling information, David W. Green, No. 2, p. 25
Conducting a district marketing program with a cross section team of employees, Barbara Novatis, No. 4, p. 8
Happy school climate can enhance our search for excellence in education, Katherine Ratliff, No. 4, p. 14
Involve your total staff in public relations, Bonnie Ellison, No. 1, p. 4
Recognizing the achievements of the staff—ideas to thank, praise and reward employees, Joseph Karpinski, No. 1, p. 22

Research

Attitudes of teachers and administrators are a key influence in the public's confidence in education, M. N. Lintz, C. M. Achilles and W. W. Wayson, No. 2, p. 34
Community education ranks high as a method of judging PR effectiveness in a school district, Richard D. Lamb and Philip T. West, No. 3, p. 28
Community pressure, school size and the resignation of coaches, Roy R. Nasstrom, Everett Walden, Charles Whitsell and Stewart Waller, No. 4, p. 12
Elementary principals in the Mid-South are increasing their PR programs, Carl F. Vaupel and Keith Brown, No. 4, p. 12
Most middle school principals recognize a need to connect with those adults who do not have children in school, Richard A. Gorton, No. 3, p. 29
School press relations are better than expected—but some improvement is still needed, Richard A. Gorton and Maxine Newsome, No. 1, p. 31
Survey signals a marketing role for Texas teachers, Philip T. West, Joan E. West and Maynard J. Bratlien, No. 2, p. 33
Who does the public credit for building confidence in schools?, C. M. Achilles, M. N. Lintz and W. W. Wayson, No. 1, p. 30

Resources

by Albert E. Holliday

An educator's trivia quiz, No. 3, p. 36
The new Education Almanac, No. 1, p. 17
Parent involvement campaign launched, No. 1, p. 17
Realtors should be your best supporters, No. 1, p. 34
10 Tips to get the most out of your publication budget, No. 2, p. 36
Why parent involvement? Quotes from leading authorities, No. 4, p. 36

Book Reviews

by Thomas E. Robinson

The Education Almanac: 1985–1986 — Facts and Figures about Our Nation's System of Education, Leroy V. Goodman, Editor, No. 2, p. 19
Ethics: A Course of Study for Educational Leaders, Robert B. Kimbrough, No. 4, p. 34
Evaluating Your School PR Investment, Rich Bagin and NSPRA consultants, No. 4, p. 34
Grammar for Journalists: Third Edition, E. L. Callihan, No. 1, p. 32
Holding Effective Board Meetings, Joint AASA-NSBA Committee, No. 4, p. 35
How to Improve Your Productivity, Virginia Carter Smith and Carolyn Said, No. 2, p. 17
Managing the Incompetent Teacher, Edwin M. Bridges and Barry Groves, No. 4, p. 35
Mortals in the Immortal Profession: An Oral History of Teaching, Alice Duffy Rinehart, No. 3, p. 34
New Encyclopedia Dictionary of School Law, Richard D. Gatti and Daniel J. Gatti, No. 3, p. 34
The Organization Press and Other Observations, Lawrence Ragan, No. 2, p. 19
Organizational Communications, Questions and Answers, Editors of the Ragan Report, No. 1, p. 33
The Persuasian Explosion: Your Guide to Power and Influence of Contemporary Public Relations, Art Stevens, No. 3, p. 34
Planning for Tomorrow's Schools: Problems and Solutions, AASA Critical Issues Series, American Association of School Administrators, No. 1, p. 33
Pride and Promise: Schools of Excellence for All the People, Mary Raywid, Charles Tesconi, Jr., and Donald Warren, No. 2, p. 18
The Role of the Principal: By the Center on Evaluation, Development and Research, Deborah Burnett Strother, Editor, No. 3, p. 35
The Role of the Principal in Effective Schools: Problems and Solutions, Jack McCurdy, No. 1, p. 32
108 Ways to Get a Bright Idea and Increase Your Creative Potentional, Arthur B. VanGundy, No. 2, p. 17
Yearbook of School Law 1984, Philip K. Piele, No. 2, p. 18 ■